GLIDDEN TOUR NEWS

Tourists Found Bedford Springs Both Restful and Beautiful.

As details of the A. A. A. touring contest for the Glidden trophy are unfolded, it is becoming evident that the event this year will be much more interesting and important from every viewpoint than ever before. In no former years has the route been laid out through so much magnificent scenery, so many points of summer attractiveness, and so many large cities.

The work of laying out the route of the tour is now in progress and about two-thirds completed. The run for each day and the stopping places at night and Sundays, as thus far arranged, are: July 9, Buffalo, N. Y., to Cambridge Springs, Pa., 117.4 miles; July 10, Cambridge Springs to Pittsburgh, 110.2 miles; July 11, Pittsburgh to Bedford Springs, 106.4 miles; July 12 (Sunday) at Bedford Springs; July 13, Bedford Springs to Harrisburg, 107.3 miles; July 14, Harrisburg to Philadelphia, 133.5 miles; July 15, Philadelphia to Milford, Pa.; July 16, Milford to Albany; July 17, Albany to Boston.

From Boston the tour will go up into Maine, back into the White Mountains, and probably disband at Saratoga Springs on July 22 or 23. The details beyond Boston will not be settled until after the pathfinding trip is completed.

The secretary of the touring board, in speaking of this section of the route, said: "From Pittsburgh the route leads across several summits of the Alleghenies to Bedford Springs, where Sunday will be spent. Those who went on the tour last year will be glad to learn this, because of the beauty of the scenery and the restfulness of the place. This will be a hard pull for the cars, however. There were more hills to be surmounted in going from Bedford Springs to Harrisburg and from there to Philadelphia, but the roads were splendid from Harrisburg to the Quaker City and this day's run will probably be made in six or seven hours, so that the tourists will get in early."

Thus far not a bit of doctoring has been necessary for either the car or the men and they expect to complete the survey before the last of this week (May 23).

CAPT. A. E. SCHELL

Aged Resident of Schellsburg Answers Final Roll Call.

VETERAN OF MEXICAN WAR

Participated in Several Engagements—Erected Tannery at Schellsburg—Funeral Tuesday.

Capt. Abram Emanuel Schell, a veteran of the Mexican War, died at his home in Schellsburg on Sunday, May 17, at the advanced age of 84 years and three days. He was a son of Peter and Eleanor Schell and was born at Schellsburg on May 14, 1824.

CAPT. ABRAM E. SCHELL

Schellsburg is named from the Schell family, the founder of it being Mr. Schell's grandfather, John Schell, a stalwart man who came from Montgomery county to seek his fortune in the year 1800. Coming to Bedford county he located on the ground now known as Schellsburg, which town he laid out on November 9, 1808.

Deceased spent his boyhood days on his father's farm. In 1847 he was engaged in teaching in the little log school house on Tull's Hill, near the spot where the Tull family was massacred by the Indians in 1778. When the Reading Company marched in front of the little school house on their way to Mexico, his patriotic ardor constrained him to dismiss the school and immediately joined Capt. Samuel M. Taylor's Company, The Independent Grays of Bedford, on May 6, 1847. The Company was mustered into the U. S. service on May 26, and was attached to the Second Regiment of Pa. Volunteers under command of Col. John W. Geary.

The regiment reached Vera Cruz and joined the army of General Scott, participating in all engagements between Vera Cruz and the City of Mexico. On the resignation of Lieut. John Keefe, Colonel Geary appointed him Lieutenant. The Company was mustered out of service at Pittsburgh on July 11, 1848. After his return from the army he went to Hollidaysburg, where he was engaged in the foundry business. He was also conductor on a passenger train on the Old Portage Railroad, and a boatman on the canal between Hollidaysburg and Baltimore.

On May 3, 1853, he married Miss Emily Elizabeth Sill who preceded him to the world beyond on December 30, 1901. He returned to Schellsburg and erected a tannery, operating the same until driven out of business by the large steam tanneries; he then purchased his father's farm, where he had since resided.

The following children survive him: Harry B. J. Percy and Walter, all of Schellsburg; Charles E. of Lima, O.; William W. of Minneapolis, Minn.; Clyde G. of Canton, O. and Mrs. Margaret Statter, wife of Dr. S. F. Statter of this place. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Elmira Anken, of Minneapolis, and a brother, Hon. William P. Schell of Bedford.

Captain Schell was a brave soldier and carried an enviable war record. In civil life he was a good citizen and was looked up to and respected not only in his native town, where he died on the hundredth anniversary of the laying out of same by his grandfather, but wherever known. He was a great reader and was possessed of a wonderful memory to the last, hence possessed a remarkable historical knowledge, both local and national, which enabled him to write for The Gazette many valuable and interesting articles. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and his correct habits of life were an influence for good. Interesting in conversation, loyal in friendship, he possessed of many other virtues, he closed his eyes upon life's earthly scenes but his influence will live with those who lament his departure.

Funeral services were held at the late home of deceased at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. L. Kennedy. Interment in the cemetery at that place. Among those who attended Capt. Schell's funeral was Thomas McCallion, of Cessna, the last surviving Mexican veteran of Bedford county, who was a member of Col. May's Company of Dragoons, having joined it at Winchester, Va. The fearful rainstorm did not daunt the determination of this aged veteran to attend the last rites of his old comrade.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION

Elects Uninstructed Delegates-at-Large—Strong Resolutions.

The Democratic state convention met in Harrisburg on Wednesday at 11 o'clock and, after temporary organization and the reading of the call, appointed the committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions, adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Peter A. O'Boyle of Luzerne was chosen permanent chairman, the other officers being the same as in the temporary organization. Both Mr. O'Boyle and Robert W. Irwin of Washington county, the temporary chairman, made vigorous addresses.

James M. Guffey, J. K. P. Hall, Arthur G. Dewalt and John B. Harmon were elected delegates-at-large to the Denver convention.

S. M. Hoyer, Mayor of Altoona, was selected from the nineteenth district as a candidate for presidential elector.

The resolutions adopted by the convention call for tariff revision, denounce the concentration of power in the Federal Government, demand the enforcement of the anti-trust laws, call for remedial currency legislation, demand the enforcement of the campaign publicity laws and commend the administration of William H. Berry as State Treasurer.

IMPORTANT VICTORY

In Harrisburg Graft Trial—Bills Admitted in Evidence.

Harrisburg, May 20.—The Commonwealth gained an important victory today in the capitol trial when it succeeded in getting before the jury bills for transactions prior to that upon which the indictment is founded, the idea being to prove that the company had a different system in those days. The defense objected strenuously and the jury was sent from the court room for almost two hours while the lawyers engaged in a forensic battle. Judge Kunkel finally admitted the bills, which dealt with a table similar to that for which the state paid $2,280.

Two experts were heard, J. G. Lanning of Philadelphia and H. G. Datz of Jersey City, both of whom gave testimony which was largely technical, dealing with measurements, grades, and the like. The bulk of the day, however, was devoted to the offer of the bills and arguments thereon.

It is expected to show further matters about bills for metal furniture supplied to the state treasurer.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT SAXTON

Altercation Resulted in John Wood Receiving Wound in Hand.

Owing to a feud existing between John Wood and John W. Miller, of near Saxton, one of the men has a bullet hole in his hand and each has arrested the other. The trouble arose over a bill of $250 which Miller is said to have owed Wood, and also over a recent trial in court.

Miller had been threatened by a member of the Wood family, it is said, but the matter has been quieted down. Last Thursday afternoon when Miller was riding by the Wood farm a discussion arose, which resulted in Miller drawing a revolver and firing four times. Three shots lodged in the ground while the fourth, which was discharged in a horizontal position, went into John Wood's right hand as he had it extended.

Mr. Miller, tearing violence, consulted an attorney at Huntingdon, and finally issued a warrant for the arrest of John and Wallace Wood as guaranty to keep the peace. The

A CONVENTION PRIMER

Important Information Concerning Past and Coming National Political Conventions.

THIRD OR OTHER PARTY CONVENTIONS.

What parties have held national conventions besides the Republicans and Democrats?

There have been several. The first political national convention ever held was by the so called Anti-Masonic party in 1831. The Democratic party has been in existence since that date. The National Republicans were followed by the Whigs and they by the Republicans, who have been in existence since 1856. Other parties which have nominated presidential candidates have been the Liberty party, the Free Soilers, the Americans or Know Nothings, the Liberal Republicans, Prohibitionists, Labor, People's, Socialists.

Has any national party besides the two great predominant parties ever been successful?

No, but they have sometimes so held the balance as to determine the election. For instance, the Liberty party defeated Clay in 1840, and the Prohibitionists defeated Blaine in 1884.

What parties besides the Republican and Democratic will probably nominate presidential candidates this year?

The Prohibitionists, the Independence League, the Socialist and possibly some Labor party.

What would happen if a third party candidate should obtain enough electoral votes to prevent the Republican or Democratic candidates from having a majority in the electoral college?

The election for president would be decided by the house of representatives and that for vice president by the senate.

Today's Suggestion by Ellen Stan.

NEW IDEA FOR SHIRT WAISTS.

A NEW fashion in shirt waists is that of finishing the white ones with colored cuffs and collar of either a plain or a striped material. When this is done the skirt is trimmed with the same.

A white linen suit had a band of brown and white striped linen about four inches wide placed above the hem so that the bottom of the band came well above the stitching of the hem. If the skirt is one of the plaited models, after the band is stitched on the skirt should be well pressed so that the band will remain plaited.

The shirt waist in the accompanying illustration would be pretty finished with a two inch straight cuff of striped material, with a turnover collar of the same, and the front plait finished with a piping and buttons to match the color of the stripe of the goods.

With such a waist cravats or jabots with a touch of the same color and edged with lace can be worn. The belt should be of white, with a buckle to match the color of the stripe, or, if one should not be able to find a buckle of this sort, belting containing a touch of the color can be used with any buckle. Pretty buckles are shown in the oval shape with chasing in the center.

A suit such as above described is especially pretty for schoolgirls, as variety can be obtained by using these colored linen and cotton trimmings on white, and several at least should be included in every girl's wardrobe that she may always look fresh and neat.

A natural linen color in pique is pretty trimmed with bright colored bandanna cloth. The hem of the skirt can be a four inch outside facing of the material cut on the bias. The collar and cuffs of the waist should be of the same material, and if preferred the cuffs can be in a wide turnover instead of straight cuff, held together with colored link buttons.

This shirt waist is cut with a knickerbocker back. The pattern comes in nine sizes—from 32 to 48 inches bust measure. To copy this waist for the average person it requires 3 1/4 yards of material 27 inches wide or 2 1/2 yards 36 inches wide.

Any reader of this paper who desires to secure this pattern may do so by sending 10 cents to this office. Give the number, 4071, state size desired and write the full address plainly. The pattern will be forwarded promptly by mail.

SIXTY-FOUR PRESENT

Sixty-four persons, including delegates and spectators, attended the meeting of the Republican county committee on Saturday of last week. The meeting was so well arranged before hand that Senator Miller, who was reported to be a candidate for county chairman, not only did not allow his name to be presented but himself presented the name of John N. Minnich, Esq., who was chosen, Harry C. James, Esq., being selected as his assistant.

R. C. Haderman, Esq., read the resolutions which complimented the party in general and then began to throw individual bouquets. At the mention of the name of Roosevelt Congressman Reynolds succeeded, on second attempt, in starting applause.

When the name of Reynolds was reached the applause which was mild in nature was started by Dexter White, who had been detailed and was seated in the rear of the almost vacant court room. Penrose and Knox were equally commended for noble (?) and patriotic (?) deeds, the latter being suggested for Presidential honors. When the names of Miller and Oster were pronounced by the reader of the resolutions the hands which had anxiously awaited the name of Reynolds were silent.

In the speeches Mr. Reynolds said he admired a man who is a Republican for principles, which, if true would refute the prevalent opinion that he is self-centered, it is a magnanimous spirit in a man that enables him to admire in others that which he himself does not possess. Mr. Jordan declared—right in the teeth of the man who lost the county by nearly 900 when he ran for Congress in 1904—that the county is normally "from 1,500 to 1,800 Republican." This was merely a slip of the tongue, for surely Mr. Jordan did not mean to hint the feelings of the distinguished gentleman who traveled all night to be present.

The resolutions failed to suggest a location for the Quay statue. There were 50-100-150-200 in attendance.

UNINSTRUCTED

The action of the state Democratic convention in sending the four delegates-at-large from this state to the National convention at Denver is variously viewed. A majority of the delegates elected at the recent primary are instructed for William J. Bryan and if Bryan shall prove to be in the lead when the delegates assemble in National convention the delegation from this state will likely be solid for him.

In sending the delegates-at-large uninstructed the convention has in no way tied their hands. They are free to act in the way that appears to them to be for the best interests of the whole people. With their hands tied, no matter what political changes might take place, they would be compelled to carry out their instructions, and by so doing they might thwart the very action that would be most desirable and most beneficial to the party and the country.

It now looks as though there will be but three names presented before the convention, Bryan, Johnson and Gray, any one of whom will make a strong candidate. They are all honest and are possessed of power and ability, and the Democratic papers of the country can, without hesitation, support the one nominated.

JOHN P. REED, ESQ.

Held in High Esteem by Bedford Bar—Resolutions Adopted.

At a meeting of the Bedford Bar held at 11 o'clock Saturday, presided over by Frank Fletcher, Esq., a committee was appointed to prepare and report a memorial of John P. Reed, Esq., after which the meeting adjourned to meet on the Monday following.

At the meeting on Monday the appended resolutions, which were prepared by Humphrey D. Tate, Esq., were read by him and were unanimously adopted. After the adoption of the resolutions appropriate addresses were made by Attorneys Moses A. Points, Alvin L. Little, Frank E. Colvin, John H. Jordan, E. M. Pennell, Simon H. Sell, H. D. Tate and Frank Fletcher, all of whom spoke in highest terms of his sterling qualities as a man and his ability as an attorney.

In Memoriam

The committee appointed by the Bedford Bar at a meeting held on May 16, 1908, to prepare and report a memorial of John P. Reed, Esq., one of its respected members who died on the 14th instant at the advanced age of 91 years and four months, begs leave to submit the following:

The sword of a strong arm has again fallen upon us, and a well-used, faithful link in the chain that binds us together has been severed. Had man continued perfect, then had there been no law, no penalty, no death for him. But "the deformity of Adam" descended upon us, to efface the beauty of holiness, and thus saith the Book of the Law, "what man is he that liveth and shall not see death?"

The sod that fell upon the coffin that contained the mortal remains of John P. Reed is yet damp; the tears are not yet wiped away; and we are met here to recall and to speak of him as he was—and as he will be remembered.

John P. Reed did not enter the profession of Law until he was about thirty-five years of age and, as he freely admitted, never ceased to regret that his earlier life had not been more assiduously devoted to a more perfect preparation for the responsible and complex duties which daily confront the active practitioner. He had no taste for the Quarter Sessions contests, nor did he seek or covet the laurel wreaths to be won only by the cultured trial lawyer, but, as a careful counselor, as a safe and honest conveyancer, and as a well posted and prudent Orphan's Court practitioner, he had no superior at this Bar in his day and generation.

Although he had learned the difficult task of how to grow old gracefully, yet, for many years last past, his connection with the Courts and the active duties of the profession was that of an interested spectator. To those who knew him, even half confidently—look back on his life, think of his deportment as a citizen, as a private gentleman, as a public official, as an attorney, as a personal friend, as a brother, as a father, as a husband, as a professing Christian, as a worker in the Sunday school, and as a member and laborer in the Church, and wherein did he fail in the discharge of his duty?

The gentle suavity of his amiable manners shall no longer entice our affections and lead us to gather around him, nor shall the dignified terror of his honorable character excite our further admiration. Correct in his sentiments, exemplary in his conduct, useful in society, and faithful to his friends, his memory shall be cherished so long as we shall love to look at what is beautiful in virtue.

His seat at the Bar is vacant; his name is blotted from the Docket, but it is entered in the Book of the Courts of Heaven, which the hand of Death has not the power to open; and that Record shall endure forever.

Resolved, That this testimonial be presented to the Court at its next meeting, with the request that it be filed and recorded at length in and among the Records of the Court, and that a duly certified copy thereof be given to the family of our departed brother.

Pleasing Opening Exercises

The orchestra from the Church of God Sunday school at Saxton furnished the music for the re-opening service at Coalmont Sunday afternoon. A large and appreciative audience was present. Besides the instrumental music there was a drill rendered by a number of children from the Saxton Sunday school. Ralph Reed and Miss Thelma Graffius sang solos which showed talent in persons so young. A beautiful duet was rendered by Misses Gates and McCahan and a quartette was given by E. A. and Bruce Ramsey, Harry Adams and John Kelley. The Sunday school at Saxton has been growing in interest. An adult Bible Class has been organized, as well as a Home Department. The orchestra has been adding much to the interest of the school.

"The Old World and Its Ways"

By William Jennings Bryan

This remarkable book of 575 pages, voluminously illustrated and elegantly bound, has been issued by "The Thompson Publishing Company" of St. Louis, Mo., and is sold by subscription.

We would advise our young friends who are out of employment to seek the agency and canvass for this book. It is certainly one of the most readable, entertaining and edifying volumes we have read in a long time. It was almost like retracing our first trip around the world, with less than one-thousandth of the money and one-hundredth of the time required for our "first trip."

The great problems of civilization, religion, philosophy and government in Japan, China, the Philippines, India, as well as Europe, are presented in a clear light by a great brain.

Mr. Bryan was accompanied on this trip by his wife and two younger children, William J., Jr., and Grace, aged 16 and 14, respectively. They started September 21, 1905, and reached home September 5, 1906, sixteen days less than one year. While most of this trip was in the North Temperate Zone, they were below the equator a few days in Java, and for a while above the arctic circle in Norway.

This book ought to be in every home where there are boys and girls with brains and promise.—Christian Advocate.

HECKERMAN LETTER

The Writer Finds Well-Paved Streets in "Old Kentucky" Towns.

Paintsville, Ky. Several years ago I wrote you from this town, which is on the Big Sandy river. At that time I described, in my humble way, the big and deep mud holes, and the terrible condition of the roads and streets. It is not so any more. Some young blood, some energetic and enterprising young men who had been away from home and seen other towns, other roads, and learned how others did this and so, were elected members of the town council—for it is only a town of fifteen hundred. Well, they asked for bids for paving and draining the streets. The U. S. government, seeing that the boys were for improving the town, sent an engineer there to see about making a good road from the C. & O. depot to the town. Then about that time the C. & O. R. R., seeing that all meant well toward the town and the road a mile away, "chipped in" and told Uncle Sam that they would assist in making a good road for those who had business with their company. So, today, this once terribly muddy town is all paved and there is a splendid pike from the town to the depot.

Real estate has advanced over one per cent. during the past year. Nice three-story brick buildings have been and are now being rapidly erected. So much for the new blood that said, "We will pave and improve our town." "A gentle hint," I hear some one say. All right, boys, put it into execution! The government engineer, while he was having the road built, had men stationed at different places twice each week to count the teams of all kinds that would travel the road and the average was over eight hundred. Many of these had one, two, four, six, or eight oxen in them. Of course this is one or two more than would pass through Bedford each day en route to the depot. However, the big traction engines would count for half-a-hundred ox teams.

We have had rain up this way every day for over a week prior to last Saturday, when the sun shone forth again. The Big Sandy was very high and raftsmen were to be seen almost all the way up with big rafts going down to Catlettsburg, Ky. Some of those rafts, I was told, had yellow poplar logs as straight as an arrow and sixty feet long. Timber of this style is getting scarce near the river and many of these logs are brought down from the mountain by ox teams. The life of a raftsmen is certainly a very hard and dangerous one. I see where several men on log rafts lost their lives by their rafts breaking apart, throwing them into the river, and being held down by the big logs. None of it for me.

One evening over a week ago, when on the train bound for Pikeville, I met J. J. Hoblitzell of Hyndman, who was bound for the Elkhorn country some twenty-five miles beyond. I was mighty glad to see him and he was as much surprised to find that Fort Bedford P-nuts were sold in this far-away country. We had a very pleasant chat until I had to get off the train at Louisville, Ky. He said Frank E. Colvin was to have been with him but he had missed his train at Grafton, W. Va. I said when Frank had travelled the Kentucky roads as I had he would not depend on them, and he must have missed the next train as I did not see him on it the following morning. I told my friend, Mr. McCulloch, who manages the Pikeville Wholesale Grocery Company, to look after these two Pennsylvania friends and not let them get lost in the push between the depot and the Pike hotel. Had the weather been propitious I think I should have waited and arranged a couple Democratic speeches for Mr. Colvin. If this was his first trip up the Big Sandy he no doubt can tell you some good stories as to the ways of the good Kentucky people.

Next week I expect to go to the Jackson district. This is the end of the Lexington and Eastern Railroad and the place is noted for more scraps than any other place in the state. 'Tis in and about Jackson that there are so many shooting scrapes. Last week there were three and one cutting affray, in which a man had his arm cut off by a single swing of a big maul in the hands of his brother-in-law. I have never been out in that section.

With all the rain and cold winds in May the gardens look fine and some potatoes I see have been worked. I am told that the fruit has not been destroyed and that unless something unforeseen occurs there will be a big crop. The furnaces in the Kentucky and Ohio sections are doing nothing and many men are out of employment. It makes business of many kinds rather slow. Next week I expect to be in Ohio and West Virginia, and will probably see a number of Bedford folks.

Why cannot Bedford have paved streets? Yours truly,
M. P. Heckerman.

W. W. Saupp of Altoona, partner in the contracting business with E. T. Drew who is now building the new road north of town, in company with Mr. Drew went over the proposed new road at Loysburg on Wednesday. Mr. Saupp accompanied Mr. Drew to Bedford Wednesday evening and returned to Altoona yesterday.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Meeting of Fruit Growers at Court House May 30.

The Fruit Growers' Association of Bedford county will hold their monthly meeting in the court house Saturday, May 30, and all members are requested to be present. The officers for the coming year are to be elected and it is important that as many members, or all, should be present, if possible. There is no reason why this organization should not go on, but it means that unless the fruit growers who are interested in this organization turn out and attend the meetings it is useless to continue. The two days' meeting held last December was a success in every way, but since that time we have not been able to get enough together to hold a meeting. We have a membership of about 60 paid-up members and apparently not enough interested or the realization of the fact that they do not know anything worth talking about fruit culture.

In a county like Bedford, with more apple trees not yet in bearing than any other county in the state of Pennsylvania (between eighty and one hundred thousand) there is no reason that we should not have a good, strong organization. We raise plenty of fruit but it is not of the quality that makes a county famous nor is it put up in a way to make its growers known the world over. The growers must get together, fix upon a system of grading and packing their fruit, and stamp the name of the grower upon each package, inviting the public to pass judgment upon their products.

The fruit growers of this county are not manifesting as much interest as they should in the work done along horticultural lines by the department of agriculture at State College and Harrisburg. We have seven tillage and fertilizer experiments, started by the experiment station at State College last year, in Bedford county and the inspection, spraying demonstrations, the two days' meeting in December, and the demonstration work at the county home. There is no excuse to offer other than neglect to our best interests. I for one want to see the organization go on but not as in the past. Let there be a full turn out at our next meeting, May 30. R. F. Lee, Secretary.

Southern Potato Salad
Cut up as many cold boiled potatoes as desired, with a generous amount of onions cut up fine and one or two stalks of celery cut up fine; mix all together into a large bowl. Cut up one pound of bacon in cubes and fry nice and brown. While that is frying mix one teaspoon of salt, one of mustard and one heaping tablespoon of sugar; mix with half a cup of warm water and add to bacon and fat; then add one cup of cider vinegar and mix with bacon, fat and all. Then pour over potatoes, onions and celery.

Buying Tan Shoes
An authority claims that tan shoes should be purchased late in the day, because earlier in the day a much smaller shoe can be comfortably worn, yet will prove a torment later in the day. Tan leather does not "give" like other leather and often shrinks slightly when dampened. For this reason a tan shoe holds its shape much better than a black one, though it must be comfortably fitted when purchased. This should be remembered by mothers buying tan shoes for children, for a pinched shoe is too annoying for anything and doubly so for children.

OF INTEREST TO HUNTERS
The Anti-Automatic Gun Law Declared Unconstitutional.

Judges Johnson and Broomall of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Delaware county recently handed down a decision in a case involving the legality of the statute passed by the Legislature of 1907 prohibiting the use of so-called automatic guns for the killing of game. The court decided the law was contrary to the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the State of Pennsylvania and discharged the defendant. The decision is of great interest to sportsmen in this state as many of them had purchased guns of the self-loading type prior to the passage of the statute prohibiting their use, and did not want to give them up. They claimed, and the courts have now sustained their contention, that a gun of the self-loading type was no more destructive of game than less modern arms and therefore perfectly lawful to use.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife would be believed seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

TALE OF A BEE SWARM*Lived in a Candy Bucket and Hauled Home in a Hucklester Wagon.

A few days ago a swarm of bees settled on a tree in a yard on Maryland avenue. The newcomers were not considered desirable citizens by the residents and it was made known that whoever would take them away might have them. People in town do not care for such pets but Simon Jay, a huckster from Arimas, Pa., happened along, and learning that he could have the swarm of bees, procured a candy bucket and soon had them in it. He left them while selling his load and a party stole them. A boy, seeing the thief went and informed Mr. Jay, who employed the boy to locate them, which he did, and Mr. Jay again got possession and put them in his huckster wagon and took them home. While others are afraid of these insects, Mr. Jay handles them as pets and they do not sting him.—Cumberland Times.

BEWARE OF PHYSIC*Only Aggravates Stomach Trouble and Never Cures.

The trouble with most people who have stomach trouble is that they do not like to take the time to get cured; they overeat and then take a physic, which simply upsets the stomach and never cures.

While relief follows one or two doses of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, chronic and long-standing cases need at least two or three weeks' treatment before the sick headaches, dizzy spells, bloating, heartburn, constipation, nervousness and other symptoms that directly result from indigestion are banished never to return.

Mi-o-na is entirely different from the ordinary stomach remedies. It is taken before meals, stimulating the secretion of digestive juices and strengthening the stomach so that it can do its proper work.

With every 50-cent box of Mi-o-na F. W. Jordan gives his guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy cures. May 23-2t.

Never put salt into soup when cooking it until it is skimmed, as salt prevents the scum from rising.

Wash the silver in the water in which potatoes have been boiled if you would have it beautifully bright and clean.

When piano keys become yellow they can be restored to their former whiteness by rubbing them with turpentine.

The best housekeeper is the one who passes less time in making things clean and more thought in keeping them clean as she goes.

Keep camphor in cupboards where clothes are stored, for not only will it keep away moths but also mice, which dislike it exceedingly.

Colds That Hang On

Colds that hang on in the spring deplete the system, exhaust the nerves, and open the way for serious illness. Take Doan's Money and Tar. It quickly stops the cough and expels the cold. It is safe and certain in results. Ed. D. Heckerman.

To Get Rid of Rats

An old farmer's secret of ridding himself of rats and mice might not come amiss for the housekeeper. He says if you sprinkle sulphur through your corn, hay and oats as you gather it never will there be a rodent to bother you. A pound of sulphur will grant immunity to a big barn.

Regulates the bowels, promotes easy natural movements, cures constipation—Doan's Regulators. Ask your druggist for them. 25 cents a box.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

RON HEART was dressed in the long double breasted gray overcoat and the soft gray hat in which all snapshot photographs (no others had ever been taken) showed the chancellor of Rhaetia.

At sight of the emperor of came the famous hat, baring the bald dome of the fine old head, fringed with hair of curiously mingled black and white.

"Good day, your majesty," he said, with no sign of surprise in his voice or face.

The train rocked going around a curve, and it was with difficulty that the chancellor kept his footing. But he stood rigidly erect, supporting himself in the doorway until the emperor, with more politeness than enthusiasm, invited him to enter and be seated.

"I'm glad you're well enough to travel, chancellor," said Leopold. "We had none too encouraging an account of you from Captain Von Breitstein."

"I travel because you travel, your majesty," replied the old man. "It is kind of you to tolerate me here, and I appreciate it."

Now they sat facing each other, and the young man, fighting down a sense of guilt, familiar to him in boyish days when about to be taken to task by the chancellor, gazed fixedly at the hard, clever face on which the afternoon sun scored the detail of each wrinkle.

"Indeed!" was the emperor's only answer.

"Your majesty, I have served you and your father before you well, I hope—faithfully, I know. I think you trust me."

"No man more. But this sounds a portentous preface. Is it possible you

"Good day, your majesty," he said.

Imagine it necessary to lead up to a subject if I can please myself by doing you a favor?"

"If I have seemed to lead up to what I wish to say, your majesty, it is only for the sake of explanation. You are wondering, no doubt, how I knew you would travel today and in this train; also why I have ventured to follow. Your intention I learned by accident." The chancellor did not explain by what diplomacy that "accident" had been brought about. "Wishing much to talk over with you a pressing matter that should not be delayed, I took this liberty and seized this opportunity."

"Some men would in my place pretend that business of their own had brought them and that the train had been chosen by chance. But your majesty knows me as a blunt man when I serve him not as diplomat, but as friend. I'm not one to work in the dark with those who trust me, and I want your majesty to know the truth."

(Which perhaps he did, but not the whole truth.)

"Your raise my curiosity," said Leopold.

"Then have I your indulgence to speak frankly not entirely as a humble subject to his emperor, but as an old man to a young man."

"I'd have you speak as a friend," said Leopold. But a slight constraint hardened his voice as he prepared himself for something disagreeable.

"I've had a letter from the crown prince of Hungary. It has come to his ears that there is a certain reason for your majesty's delay in following up the first overtures for an alliance with his family. Malicious tongues have whispered that your majesty's attentions are otherwise engaged, and the young Adalbert has addressed me in a friendly way, begging that the rumor may be contradicted or confirmed."

"I'm not sure that negotiations had gone far enough to give him the right to be inquisitive," returned Leopold, flushing.

The chancellor spread out his old veined hands in a gesture of appeal. "I fear," he said, "that in my anxiety for your majesty's welfare and the good of Rhaetia I may have exceeded my instructions. My one excuse is that I believed your mind to be definitely made up. I still believe it to be so. I would listen to no one who should try to persuade me of the contrary, and I will write Adalbert."

"You must get yourself and me out of the scrape as best you can, since you admit you got us into it," broke in the emperor, with an uneasy laugh. "If Princess Virginia of Baumbenberg-Drippe is as charming as she is said to be, her difficulty will be in choosing a husband, not in getting one. For once, my dear chancellor, gossip has told the truth, and I wouldn't pay the princess so poor a compliment as to ask for her hand when I've no heart left to give her in exchange for it. There's some one else!"

"It is of that some one else I would venture to speak, your majesty. Gossip has named her. May I?"

"I'll save you the trouble, for I'm not ashamed that the common fate has overtaken me—common because every man loves once before he dies, and yet uncommon because no man ever loved a woman so worthy. Chancellor, there's no woman in the world like Miss Helen Mowbray, the lady to whom I owe my life."

"It's natural you should be grateful, your majesty, but—"

"It's natural I should be in love."

"Natural that a young man inexperienced in affairs of the heart should mistake warm gratitude for love, impossible that the mistake should be allowed to continue."

Leopold's eyes grew dark. "In such a connection," he said, "it would be better not to mention the word 'mistake.' I'm glad you are here, for now you can learn from me my intentions toward that lady."

"Intentions, did you say, your majesty? I fear I grow hard of hearing."

"At least you will never grow slow of understanding. I did speak of my intentions toward Miss Mowbray."

"You would give the lady some magnificent estate, some splendid acknowledgment?"

"Whether splendid or not would be a matter of opinion," laughed the emperor. "I shall offer her a present of myself."

The old man had been sitting with his chin sunk into his short neck, peering out from under his brows in a way he had, but he lifted his head suddenly, with a look in his eyes like that of an animal who scents danger from an unexpected quarter.

"Your majesty," he exclaimed, "you are your father's son, you are Rhaetian, and your standard of honor!"

"I hope to marry Miss Mowbray," Leopold cut him short.

The chancellor's jaw dropped, and he grew pale. "I had dreamed of nothing as bad as this," he blurted out, with no thought or wish to sugar the truth. "I feared a young man's rashness. I dreaded scandal. But, forgive me, your majesty. For you a morganatic marriage would be madness!"

"A morganatic marriage I did think of at first, but on second thoughts I saw it would be ungrateful."

"Ah, yes, to the country which expects so much of you."

"No, to the woman who has the right to all or nothing. I will make her empress of Rhaetia."

With a cry the chancellor sprang up. His eyes glared like the eyes of a bull who receives the death stroke. His working lips and the hollow sound in his throat alarmed the emperor.

"No, your majesty, no!" he panted.

"But I say yes," Leopold answered, "and let no man give me nay. I've thought it all out. I will make her a countess first. Then she shall be made my empress."

"Your majesty, it is not possible."

"Take care, chancellor."

"She has been deceiving you. She has neither the birth, the position nor the name she claims to have, and I can prove it."

"You are mad, Von Breitstein," the emperor flung at him. "That can be your only excuse for such words."

"I am not mad, but I am old and wise, your majesty. Today you have made me feel that I am very old. Punish me as you will for my frankness. My work for you and yours is nearly done. Cheerfully will I submit to my dismissal if only this last effort in your service may save the ship of state from wreck. I would not make an accusation which I could not prove. And I can prove that the two English ladies who have been staying at Schloss Lyndalberg are not the persons they pretend to be."

"Who has been lying to you?" cried Leopold, who held between clinched hands the temper he vowed not to lose with this old man.

"To me, no one. To your majesty, to

THOUSANDS CURED*Wonderful Success of Hyomei in Curing Catarrh, Even in Chronic Stages.

Hyomei is the most unusual remedy ever known for the cure of catarrh.

It follows Nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs, as its healing balsams are taken in with the air you breathe, thus reaching the most remote air cells in the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs and preventing their growth.

Use Hyomei at the first symptoms of catarrh. Do not allow the disease to extend along the delicate mucous membrane, gradually going from the nose to the throat, thence into the bronchial tubes, and then onward and downward until the lungs are reached. Hyomei will cure all curable forms and stages of catarrh. F. W. Jordan takes the whole risk, and offers to refund the money for a dollar outfit if it fails to cure. May 22-2t.

The emperor caught his breath. "If you were a young man I would kill you for that," he said.

"I know you would. As it is, my life is yours. But before you take it, for God's sake, for your father's sake, hear me out!"

Leopold did not speak for a moment, but stared at the vanishing landscape, which he saw through a red haze.

"Very well," he said at last; "I will hear you, because I fear nothing you can say."

"When I heard of your majesty's admiration for a certain lady," the chancellor began quickly lest the emperor should change his mind, "I looked for her name and her mother's in Burke's Peerage. There I found Lady Mowbray, widow of a dead baron of that ilk, mother of a son still a child and of one daughter, a young woman with many names and twenty-eight years."

"This surprised me, as the Miss Mowbray I had seen at the birthday ball looked no more than eighteen and, I was told, confessed to twenty. The Mowbrays, I learned by a little further research in Burke, were distantly connected by marriage with the family of Baumbenberg-Drippe. This seemed an odd coincidence in the circumstances. But, acting as duty bade me act, I wired to two persons—Baron von Sark, your majesty's ambassador to Great Britain, and the crown prince of Hungary, the brother of Princess Virginia."

"What did you telegraph?" asked the emperor icily.

"Nothing compromising to your majesty, you may well believe. I inquired of Adalbert if he had English relations, a Lady Mowbray and daughter, Helen, traveling in Rhaetia, and I begged that if so he would describe their appearance by telegram. To Von Sark I said that particulars by wire concerning the widow of Lord Mowbray and daughter, Helen, would put me under personal obligation. Both these messages I sent off night before last. Yesterday I received Adalbert's answer, this morning Von Sark's. They are here."

And the chancellor tapped the breast of his gray coat. "Will your majesty read them?"

"If you wish," replied Leopold at his haughtiest and coldest.

The old man unbuttoned his coat and produced a coroneted pocketbook, a souvenir of friendship on his last birthday from the emperor. Leopold saw it and remembered, as the chancellor hoped he would.

"Here are the telegrams, your majesty," he said. "The first one is from the crown prince of Hungary."

"Have no idea where Lady Mowbray and daughter are traveling, may be Rhaetia or north pole," Adalbert had written, with characteristic flippancy. "Have seen neither for eight years and scarcely know them. But Lady M. tall, brown old party, with nose like hobbyhorse; Helen dark, nose like mother's, wears glasses."

With no betrayal of feeling, Leopold laid the telegram on the red plush seat and unfolded the other.

"Pardon delay," the Rhaetian ambassador's message began. "Have been making inquiries. Lady Mowbray has been widow for ten years. Not rich. During son's minority has let her town and country houses. Lives much abroad. Very high church, intellectual, at present in Calcutta, where daughter Helen, twenty-eight, not pretty, is lately engaged to marry middle-aged judge of some distinction."

"So!"—and the emperor threw aside the second bit of paper—"it is on such slight grounds as these that a man of the world can label two ladies 'adventuresses'!"

The chancellor was bitterly disappointed. He had counted on the impression which these telegrams must make, and unless Leopold were acting it was now certain that love had driven him out of his senses.

But if the emperor were mad he must be treated accordingly, and the old statesman condescended to "bluff."

"There is still more to tell," he said, "if your majesty has not heard enough, but I think when you have reflected you will not wish for more. It is clear that the women calling themselves Mowbrays have had the audacity to present themselves here under false colors. They have either deceived Lady Lambert, who introduced them to Rhaetian society, or, still more likely, they have cleverly forged their letters of introduction."

A SURPRISE PARTY

Pleasant Evening Spent at Snake Spring Valley Home

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Mauk gave a surprise party Tuesday evening, May 12, in honor of their son Percy. The evening was spent in dancing and music, refreshments were served, and at a late hour they returned to their homes, wishing Percy many happy birthdays.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bollman, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Beegle, Mrs. John Wakefoose, Misses Anna and Effie Hoover, Sannie Beegle, Ethel and Carrie Smouse, Estella Leonard, Margaret Wakefoose, Fannie Smouse, Myra Amick, Nellie Hoover, Ethel Knipple, Della Smith, Ada Dibert, Dorothy and Elsie Mauk, Etta Wakefoose, Gertrude and Bessie Bollman, Anna Zeigler, Cora Thompson, Lucy and Alice Leonard, Lulu Reighard, Mary Smouse, Sophia Ritchey, Susie Fletcher, B. F. Beegle, George Schnably, Harvey Ritchey, Roy Shearer, Russell Foreman, Harrison Hoover, George and Carl Bollman, Virgil Mauk, Chalmers Manspeaker, Charles Smouse, Percy and Frank Mauk, Henry Arnold, John Milburn, Harry Easter, Joseph Smith, Samuel Goehenour, Blair Park, William and Lloyd Baker, Ross Morehead, Ira Amick, Orville Shearer, Henry Wakefoose and David Leonard.

The trouble with most cough cures is that they constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup does not constipate, but on the other hand its laxative principles gently move the bowels. It is pleasant to take and it is especially recommended for children, as it tastes nearly as good as maple sugar. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

THE SUMMER VACATION GUIDE.

The summer vacation is the bright spot in the dull routine of the year's work. It breaks the monotony of the daily round, and cheers and invigorates for the strenuous life ahead.

America abounds with delightful summer resorts in valley, on mountain, and beside the sea. The Atlantic coast line from Labrador to Cape Hatteras contains the greatest number of resorts devoted entirely to the pursuit of pleasure and health in the world.

One may purchase from Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agents, excursion tickets to over eight hundred of these resorts, covering all the desirable places, from the rock-bound bays of Newfoundland to the gentle, sandy slopes of the Virginia beaches; from the White Mountains of New Hampshire to the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee; in the wilds of Canada, along the shores of the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes.

The famous seacoast resorts of New Jersey—Atlantic City, Cape May, Wildwood, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Asbury Park, Long Branch, Spring Lake, Seaside Park, Beach Haven and others, so well known that description is superfluous—are among the most popular and the most easily accessible resorts in the country.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Summer Excursion Book, to be obtained of Ticket Agents at ten cents a copy, or of the General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia, by mail postpaid for 25 cents, describes them all and gives the rates and stop-over privileges allowed on tickets.

S. S. CONVENTION

Delegates Assembled at Woodbury
Last Thursday and Friday

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

Good Attendance and Excellent Program—Hospitality Appreciated—
At Bedford in 1909.

The annual convention of the Bedford County Sabbath School Association, held at Woodbury on May 14 and 15, convened in the Lutheran church at that place at 2 p. m. and was called to order by the President, W. S. Lysinger of Bedford. The carefully arranged program by the executive committee, which consisted of five sessions, was ably discussed and carried out with a few variations.

W. G. Landis of Philadelphia, Secretary of the State Sunday School Association; Prof. William Beery of Huntingdon, State Field Worker, and Miss Clara Louise Ewalt of New York were "stars" in the convention and gave much valuable thought. Willingness on the part of our resident pastors and H. D. Tate, Esq., of Bedford to give assistance added much to the inspiration of the convention. The recitation rendered by Miss Dolly Haffley and the papers prepared and read by Miss Ruth Stayer and Mrs. J. L. Longenecker were considered the climax of the convention. The music, which was carefully selected and well rendered by the choir, made it cheerful and pleasant inside while rainy and gloomy on the outside.

The report of the committee on enrollment shows the following attendance:

Pastors—F. E. Hauffey, J. R. Van Pelt, J. W. Chambers, M. S. Sharp, B. F. Bausman, Charles E. Rupp, J. C. Stayer and E. C. Keboch.

LETTER TO D. W. PROSSER
Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir: A few years ago, a New York daily got-up a great agitation for dollar gas, and got it. The State passed the law, and the people liked it, of course, till the bills came in. The bills were bigger, not less; the law didn't say what the gas should be.

The price of a gallon of honest paint is $1.75; but there's "paint" all the way from 25 cents to $1.75. A popular price is $1.25; there are scores of "paints" at that price. Like dollar gas.

If $1.75 is the price of a gallon of honest paint, you may be quite sure there are scores of "paints" at all prices from that down, with paint enough in them to pass for paint. And what are you going to do about it?

It takes from $2 to $4 a gallon to pay the painter for doing his work. Is it worth while to pay $2 to $4 a gallon for brushing-on paint half whitewash?

No; the expense of that extra and useless labor makes counterfeit paint cost more than true.

The remedy is Devoe. There are eight honest paints; Devoe is the longest one of the eight.

Yours truly

F. W. DEVOE & CO.
P. S.—Metzger Hardware and House Furnishing Co. sells our paint.

You will be pleased with our neat work. Give us a call.
